NURSES ARE

A nurse . . .

white uniform,

white shoes,

and a white cap on her head.

PEOPLE, TOO!

This is the picture that the word “nurse” usually brings to mind.

But underneath the white is a person.

Under each uniform is a unique individual with his or her own dreams, goals, and ideals.

During our time in nursing school, we are not just becoming nurses, we are also becoming people.

Along with the classroom lectures, clinic experiences and activities that mark our progress toward that title "R.N." . . .

are those things that will make each of us a special person.

Whether it is through a hobby, a volunteer organization, a work situation, or just the varied experiences of daily living; special qualities and talents emerge that make each of us unique.

In this yearbook, we will show the activities that have to do with our main purpose here — that of becoming an R.N.

But also, we hope to bring out some of the things that make each of us an individual. For after all . . .

Becoming Nurses

There are many activities that make our way to "Becoming Nurses." We begin with our junior year of classes, and clinics, highlighted by the fluting of our caps. Then we pass on to our senior year with another round of clinics and classes and wear a burgundy stripe on our cap to designate us as senior students. At the end of the senior year come the celebrations of stringing, pinning and finally graduation. Providing we pass our boards, we are nurses at last.

Juniors

Our first step toward the achievement of the title R.N. begins with our arrival in late August of our junior year. Soon we are caught up in a 24-hour-a-day routine of classes, clinics, careplans, and evaluations; wondering when it will ever end.

But good times are also included in this year, with fluting being one of the highlights. And before we know it the last careplan is written, the last slide tape is seen and the last trip to the library is made . . . at least until senior year begins.

Junior Class Officers

We, the officers of the Junior Class, were elected in October, 1976. Since then we have tried to implement activities for the Junior Class to promote comrad-erie among the class and to provide a change of pace from school.

like THAT?!"

Senior "assists" IPR write-up.

The fluting ceremony was used to signify the end of a six week probationary period for each student nurse. If it was thought that she was progressing satisfactorily, she was allowed to flute her cap and continue her studies.

While we have kept the tradition of the ceremony, it no longer marks the end of probation. Rather, it is a time for the Juniors and Seniors to get together for skits and songs, laughter, food . . . and to flute the Juniors' caps.

"But have you SUFFERED?!"

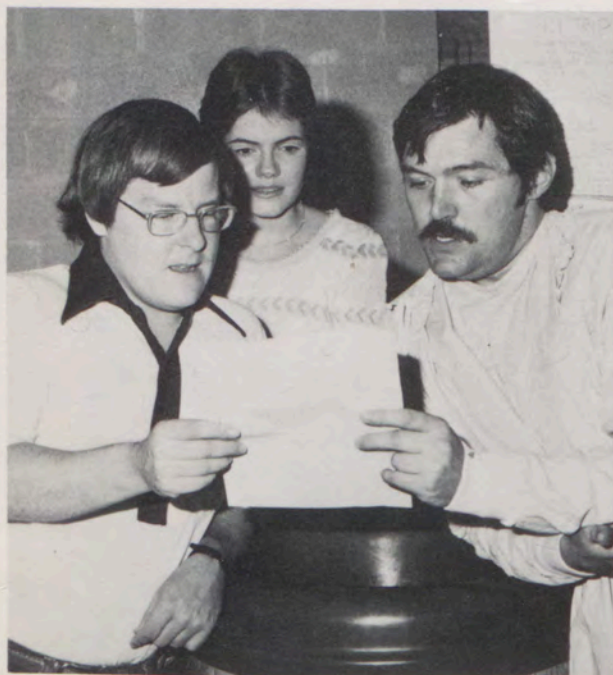

"Burrrpp!"

"Mr. Fondler! That isn't exactly the kind of IPR I had in mind!"

Our senior class officers were elected in the spring of 1976. Throughout the year they worked behind the scenes to organize activities for us. Two of our mixers, Super Friday and the Halloween Mixer, were organized in cooperation with the SGA. Although both functions lost money, the class sold mugs and chances on a Basket of Cheer to replenish the treasury. Pinning and stringing were the big projects for our officers. Our class did not participate much in planning these activities, and as a result our officers had a difficult time getting everything together. We thank them for their dedication and hard work!

For four years the inner yearning to graduate and become registered nurses had dwelled within each of us. Now that we have reached that moment, there is a feeling of both joy and sadness. Entering the world of nursing is a challenge that we have accomplished through much work and determination. There have been many times that we have wanted to quit and find an easier profession, but the desire to stay and graduate was stronger. The endless nights of writing care plans, assessments and studying for exams are over and the senior sigh of relief can be heard echoing through the streets of downtown Baltimore. Many of us will probably drift apart, but the memories of our junior and senior years will live on for a long time.

Yes, we have reached our goal . . . Together.

The Nightingale Cap

The University of Maryland nursing cap is among the oldest in the world. It was designed by Florence Nightingale for those nurses who graduated from St. Thomas' Nursing School in England. One of those graduates, Louisa Parsons, opened the University of Maryland School of Nursing, and Ms. Nightingale sent her the pattern for the cap and asked her to give one to each future graduate of the school.

The original cap was made of one row of point d'esprit lace which was gathered together and fluted. There was a skirt of lace at the nape of the neck and the cap was tied under the chin like a bonnet. The cap we receive has been modernized. The chin ties are gone and several rows of fluted lace have been added. Also, each cap now has the nurse's initials embossed on the crown.

Until recently, each nurse had to wash, starch, and flute her own cap. This was a very tedious chore and took hours. The cap first had to be boiled until all of the old starch was out. When it was dry, it had to be restarched. The fluting was done with a two pronged fork called a fluting iron. This iron was heated pioneer style over an alcohol burner until it was the right temperature, and then used to shape the flutes one at a time. The fingertip test was used to help regulate temperature. If the iron was too hot, the starch burned, your cap was scorched, and you started over again. The caps are not done until each flute is strung together, a job each of us must still perform for ourselves at our cap stringing ceremony.

Stringing

Unlike days gone by when caps had to be fluted and restrung every time they were washed, today's U of M graduate strings her cap once - and one time only - at a traditional ceremony called stringing.

This project involves stringing a long piece of thread through the fluted edges of the cap. The ends of the thread are then pulled, and the cap is fitted to the individual . . .

Cap Stringing Marks the Beginning of the End

. . . These last few days we spend together are times for reflection on the many times we have had together, and for looking ahead to the future as we prepare to go our separate ways . . .

University of Maryland School of Nursing Pin

The pin of the class of 1894 was adopted as the official pin of the Alumnae Association at its incorporation in 1903. The original design, submitted by Tiffany's in New York, is in the form of a St. George's cross which includes the University of Maryland colors of black, gold, and maroon. The caduceus design in the center of the cross depicts a serpent representing wisdom entwined around a chalice symbolizing "the wise presiding over decoctions of medicine". The pin bore the inscription "Nurses' Alumni Association, University of Maryland."

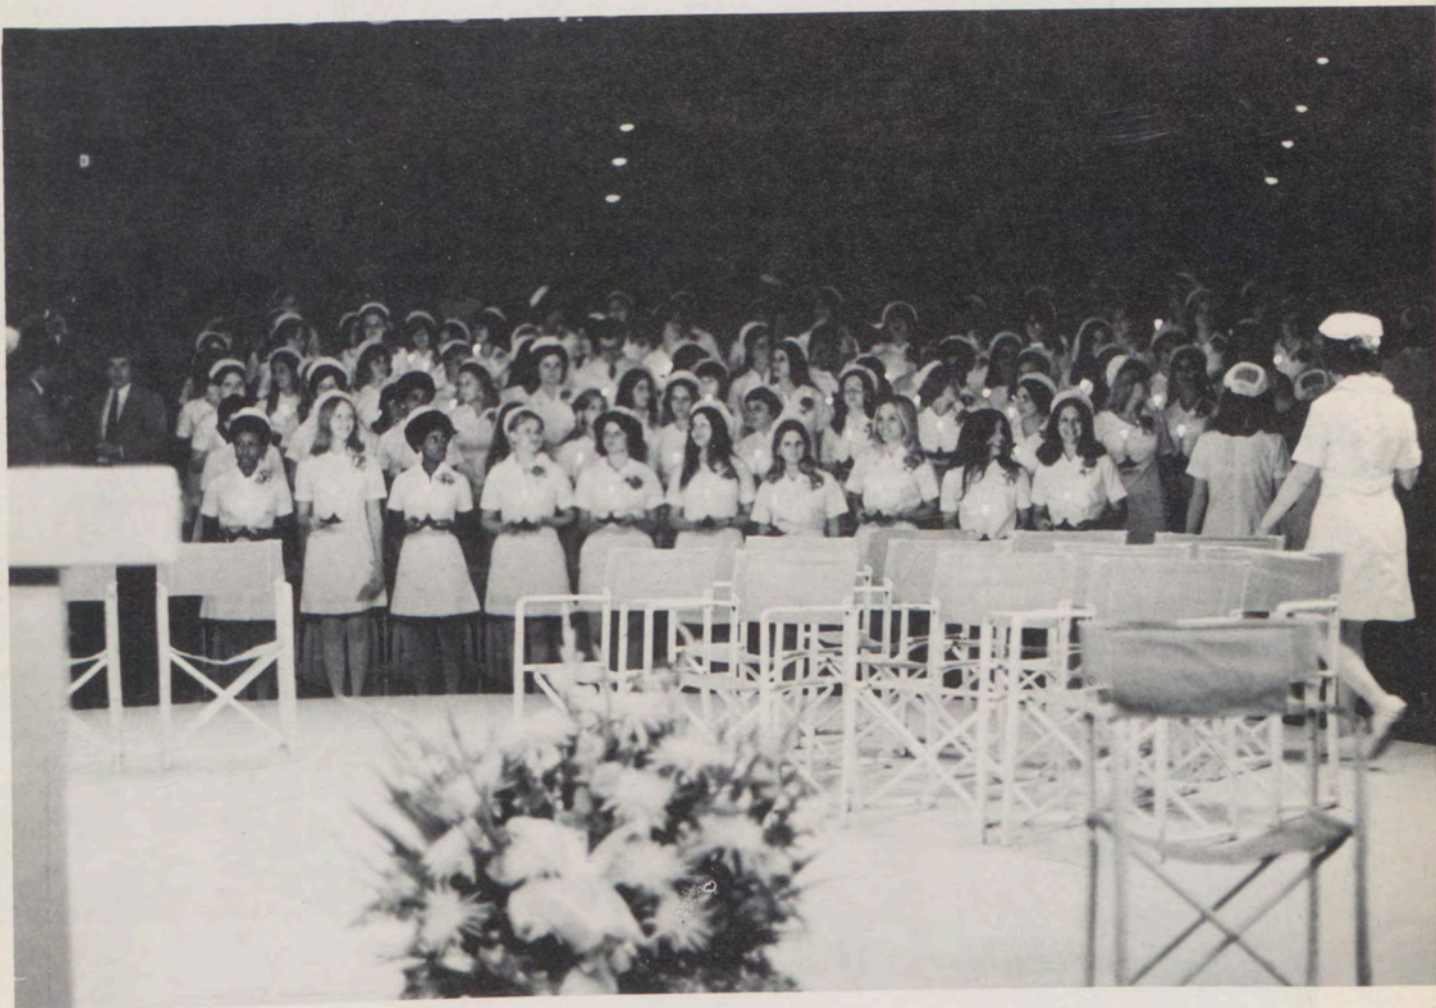

In 1970, the Association offered its historic pin to the School of Nursing as an official emblem. In accordance with this action, in recent months the lettering of the pin has been changed to read School of Nursing, University of Maryland. The basic design remains the same.

(Reprint from the 1955 bulletin of Nurses Alumni Association.)

The Florence Nightingale Pledge

I solemnly pledge myself before God and in presence of this assembly;

To pass my life in purity and to practice
my profession faithfully.

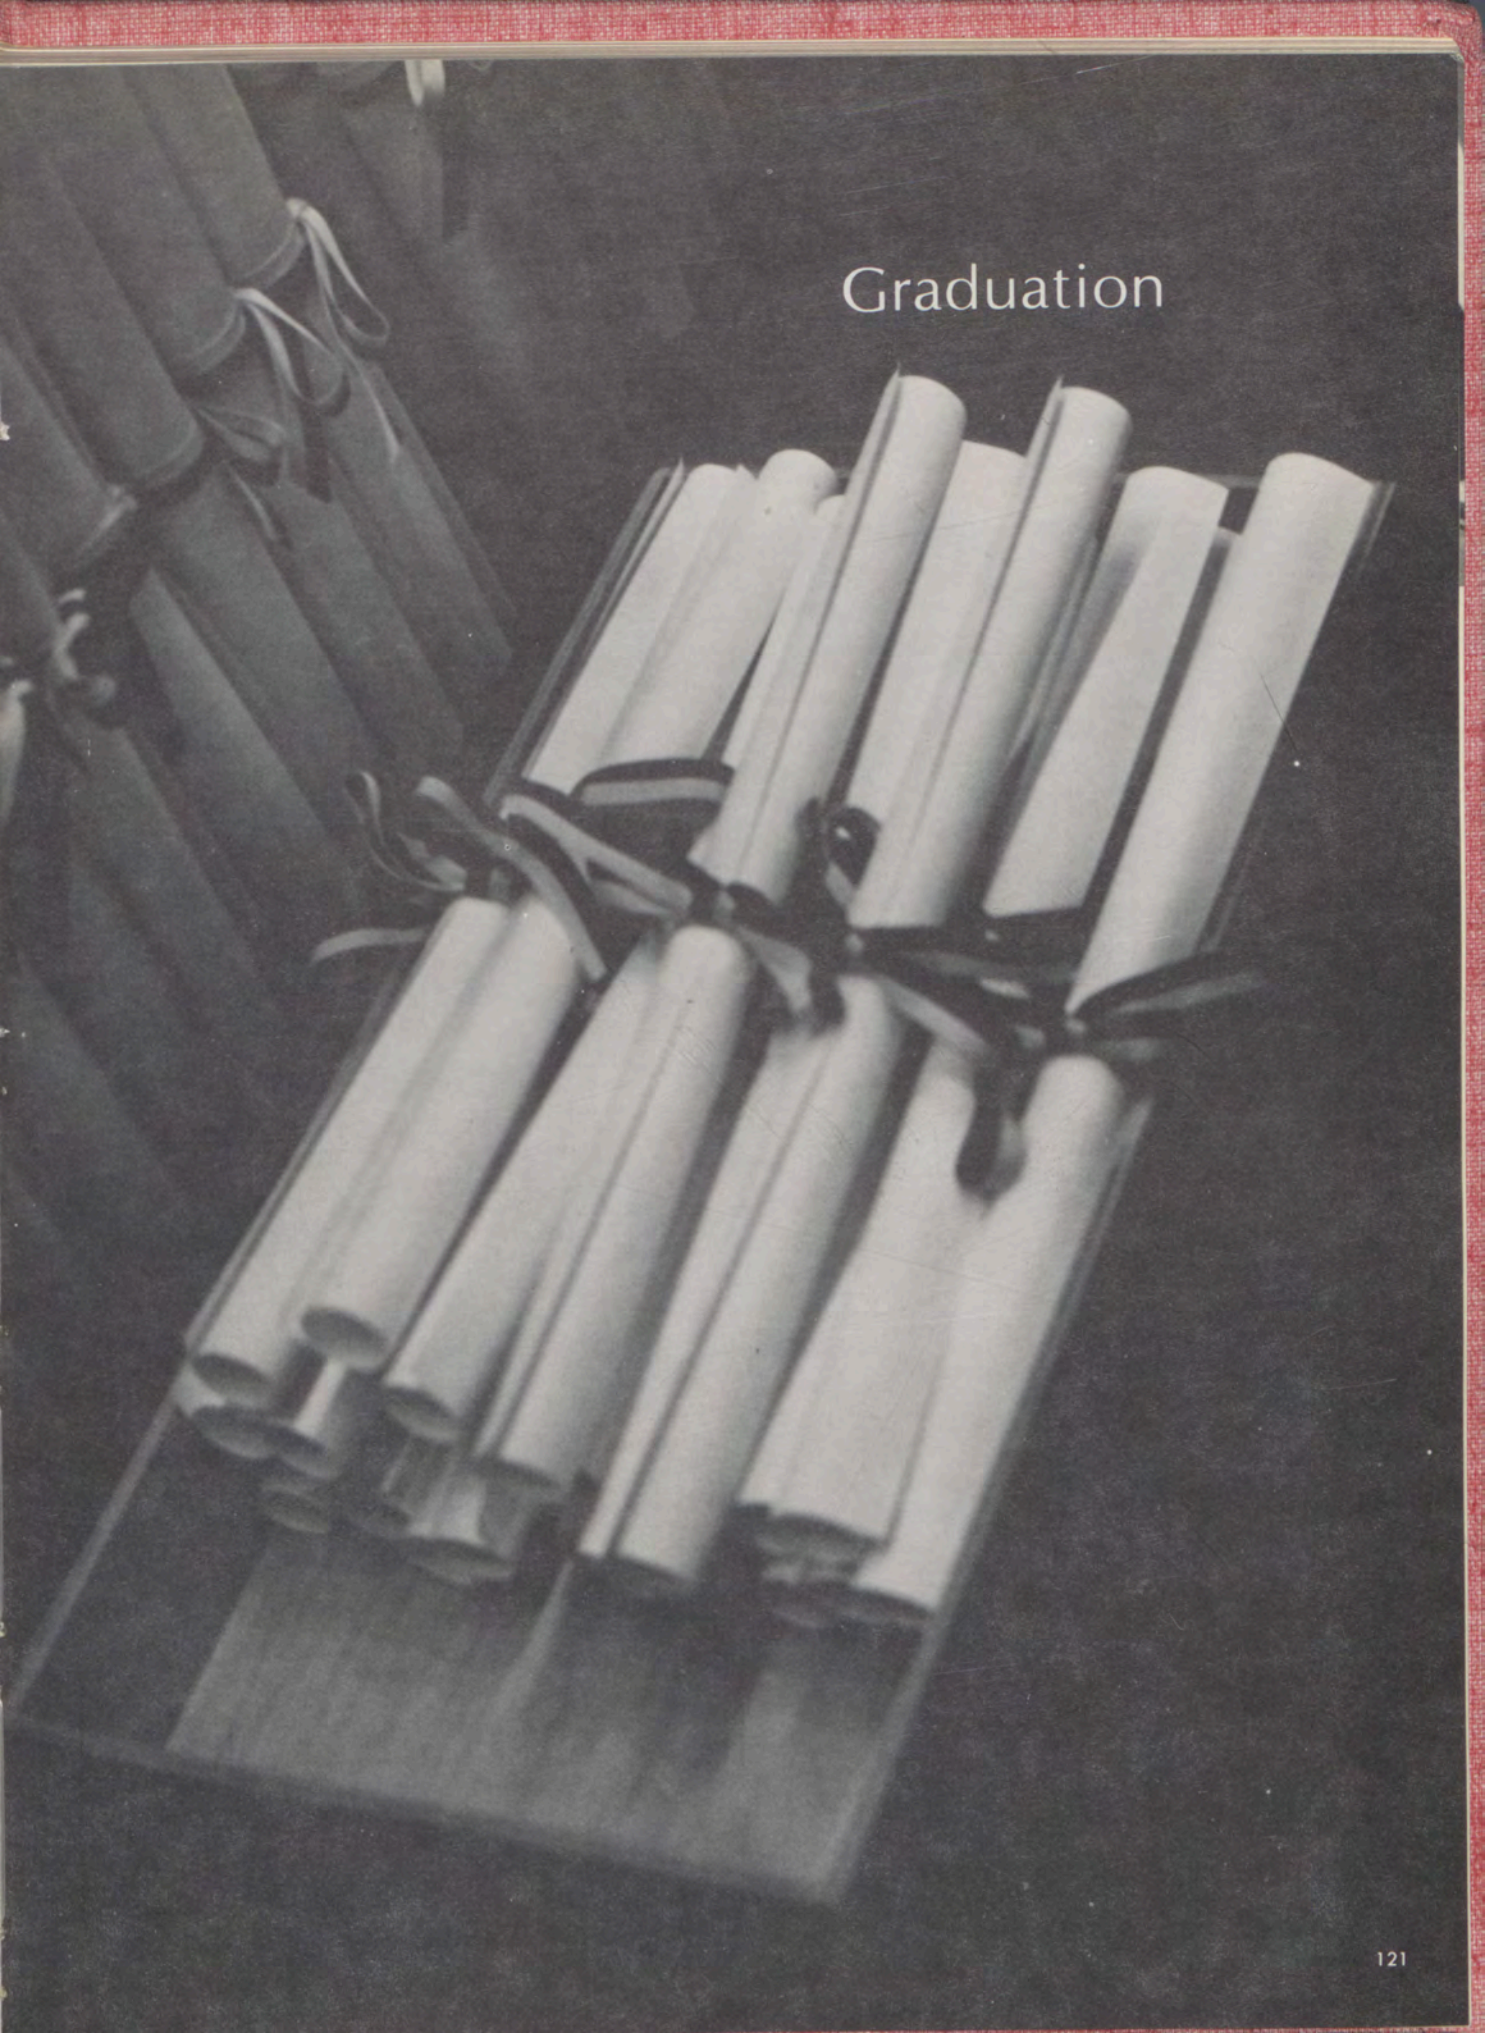

I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug.

I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling.

With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the

Becoming People

Some of us have special hobbies, talents, or interests, while others of us participate in organizations both in and out of school. And some of us do neither of these, while others do both. But for all of us, our everyday actions and interactions express to others the unique thoughts and feelings that we have! Through these expressions of self, we are "Becoming People." It is the individualism that emerges and develops in each of us throughout our lifetime that makes us unique and that makes each of us a person in our own right.

Students Get Involved in Organizations

Many students participate in extracurricular activities during the school year. The organizations provide the students with various opportunities for getting involved with campus life. The many different activities allow for recreation, socialization, and taking an active part in student affairs. Interaction with peers is made possible through the various organizations.

Maryland Student Nurses' Association

The MSNA is a campus organization representing nursing students. Its purposes include recognizing student nurses' interests and concerns, influencing the educational curriculum, promoting community affairs and activities, and encouraging relationships with other nursing and health organizations. It also provides the opportunity to develop the leadership skills needed in the nursing profession.

Bible Study

The UMAB Christian fellowship, an inter-denominational group, meets together on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Newman Center. Desiring to learn more about God and His will for our lives, we spend the time sharing, singing, praying, and studying God's Word - the Bible. We seek to fulfill the words of Jesus when He said: "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you, that you also love one another. By this all men will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another." John 13:34, 35 NAS

Dorm Council Parsons Hall

Dorm Council is a student organization which aims to improve dorm life in Parsons Hall. The council consists of a president and one or two students from each floor acting as "floor representatives." Members attend bimonthly meetings with the Director of Housing to report and deal with maintenance and security problems. One of the major accomplishments this year was the installation of new furniture on three floors in the dorm.

Student Council

The Student Council of Baltimore is part of the membership of the Student Government Association of the School of Nursing. The main purpose of the organization is to encourage good fellowship among the students. Moreover, it works toward unity, cooperation, and understanding between faculty and students in regard to both political proposals and social activities. In order to accomplish these goals, the Council directs its functioning to discuss and participate with representatives of the faculty and administration concerning matters that affect the welfare of the students.

Mercy Student Council

The Mercy Student Council is an equal and autonomous political and fiscal entity in the Student Government Association serving the University of Maryland undergraduate students assigned to Mercy Clinical Center. In only its second year of existence, it quietly conducted elections, organized a used textbook sale, allocated funds for class activities and sponsored a Christmas party for students, faculty, and members of Mercy Hospital's Administration.

The 1976-77 season marks Mercy's third in basketball competition. The enthusiasm shown by the entire group of Mercy students has helped the team achieve a winning season. In the past three years, the Mercy team has come home with two championship titles and are working toward their third title. But more importantly, this year it seems that through the basketball games the juniors and seniors have become a closer knit team, both on and off the court.

Academic Board

Students with academic problems may seek assistance in the Academic Board. The Board, made up of students and faculty, objectively reviews the cases presented and weighs the evidence. They then make recommendations to the parties involved with the hopes that a mutual agreement can be reached.

Dean Smiles for Camera . . .

We alternately loved and feared them, cried on their shoulders and laughed with them. These people, administrators and faculty, guided us through the tortuous path of knowledge on which we embarked without knowing if we would reach the final goal as whole or in pieces. Yet we survived, with their help or in spite of it, and their faces will hold a place in our memories long after their names are forgotten.

Find out why Sinai Hospital is called The Nurses' Hospital.

Sinai Hospital is the place for your first job. And for every job after that.

Smoothing out the rough edges on your perspective. Helping you to fully understand that moment when those undergraduate or nursing school persuasions suddenly seem dream-like in the face of real need. Showing you that by becoming a nurse you've made the right decision—you've chosen the right life. Sinai Hospital is for learning...for growing.

We've provided comprehensive health care for residents of Northwest Baltimore for over a century. Today, as a non-denominational, non-profit, full service community hospital, Sinai is a recognized leader in advanced patient care. We offer the most sophisticated equipment and modern surgical procedures, exceptional specialty areas, and a progressive, thoroughly professional staff.

A leader in ambulatory care, Sinai extends a full range of services including medical-surgical, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics, intensive care and coronary care units, recovery room, community medicine, rehabilitation medicine, and psychiatry. We work with 492 beds, 53 bassinets, and over 1900 employees.

The salary range for R.N.'s is between $10,004 and $12,806, with differentials for evening, night and weekend duty. Our nurses receive a fully paid benefit package including Blue Shield, Diagnostic, Major Medical, Retirement, Life Insurance, Dental and Vision Care, and Prescription Drug Plan.

For the R.N. seeking continuing education at nearby colleges and universities, Sinai offers a liberal tuition aid policy.

We invite your inquiry. Call or write

U.S. ARMY NURSE CORPS

Where will your nursing career take you?

While you're planning your professional future it is important that you consider all career avenues open to you. There is no more stimulating professional environment in nursing than the Army Nurse Corps.

Consider some of the advantages in the unique experience of Army nursing.

*The Army Nurse is an officer... you work side-by-side with other officers in the Army Medical Department; internists, surgeons and other specialists rely on you as the Professional Nurse you are.

*Serving in the Army is a patriotic opportunity. Since 1901 the Army Nurse has made significant contributions in caring for military men and women and their families.

*Challenge and Adventure marks the life of the Army Nurse -- from the start.

Wherever you serve as an Army Nurse, you'll find that opportunities are unparalleled. There's no limit to the opportunities for professional and personal growth. Of course the pay and other benefits are excellent.

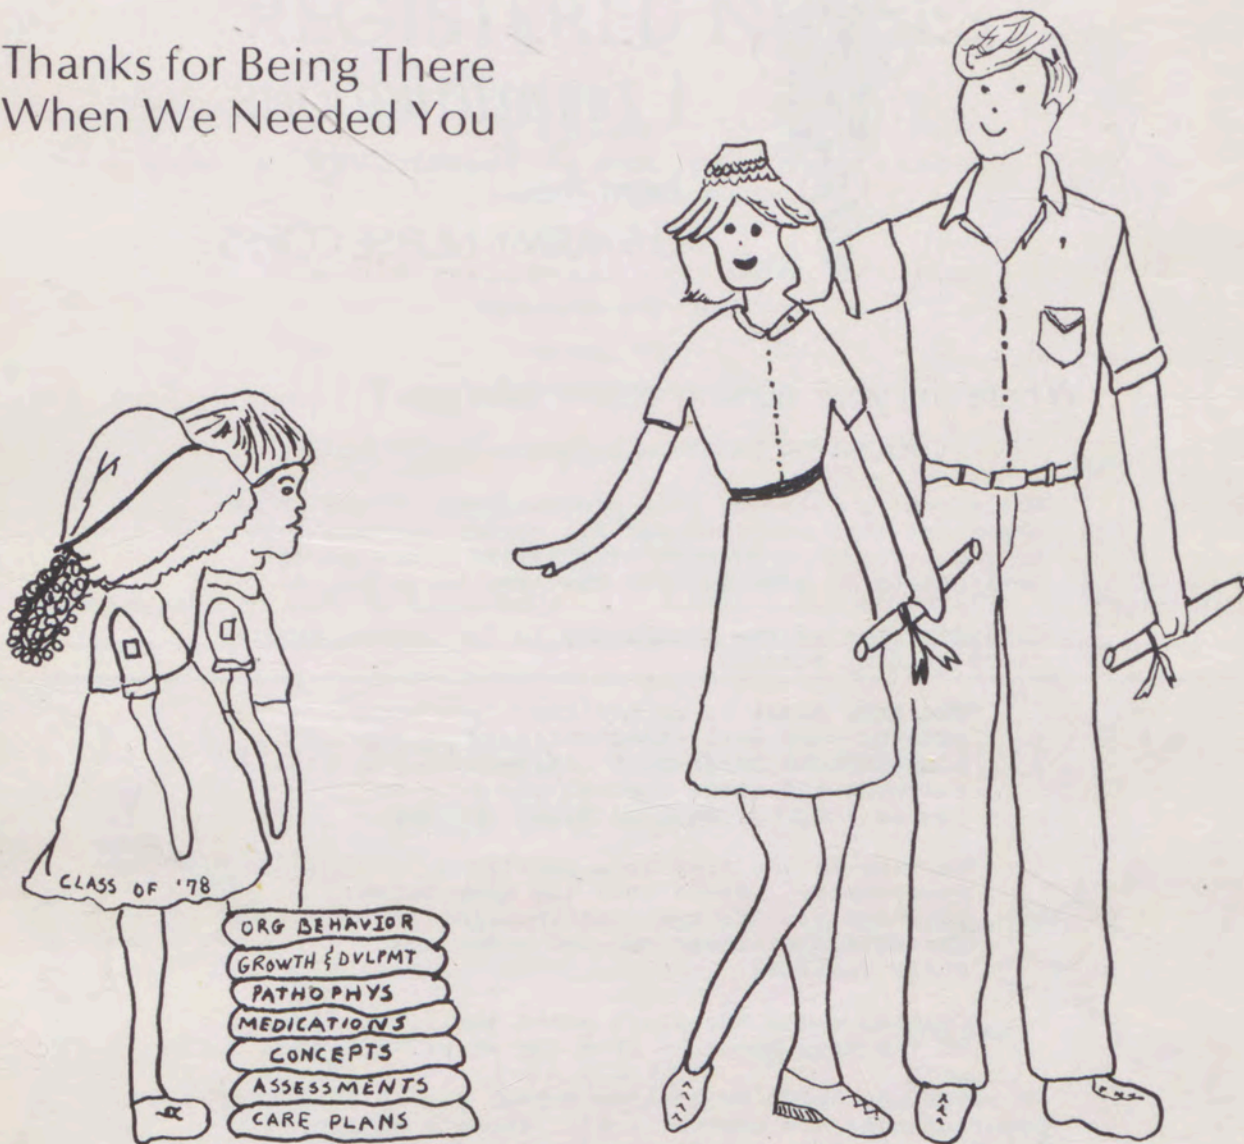

For information explaining how you can become a part of this exciting experience call:

From the Class of '78

Acknowledgements From the Senior Class:

- To Ann Morgan - thank you for guidance and the rules of protocol.
- To Barb Spivak - thank you for finding the loopholes.
- To Mrs. Proctor - thank you for the advice and kind shoulder, we'll miss you.
- To Mrs. Chase - for letting us practice our catheterization techniques, bedmaking, bathing skills, etc.
- To Erik Erikson - for our distrust, shame and doubt, guilt, inferiority, identity diffusion, isolation, self-absorption and despair.
- To all officers - for expending kinetic energy and sacrificing dynamic equilibrium for the sake of the class.
- To Harold - for maintaining our fluid and electrolyte imbalance.
- To Dave - for maintaining our nutritional state with pizza and popcorn.
- To the Juniors - for little brothers and sisters.
- To Hans Selye - for his biography of a nursing student.
- To Sigmund Freud - for spicing up the otherwise monotonous curriculum with a little sex.
- To BCSC - for accepting our budget.
- To Jean Piaget - we dedicate an entire class of preoperational college students.
- To Abraham Maslow - for defining the basic needs of food, sleep, sex; the ones we never met.
- To all Senior Faculty - for a curriculum that was:
  - a) adequate and appropriate
  - b) efficient
  - c) effective
  - d) a and c
  - e) all of the above
  - f) none of the above
- To Luckman and Sorensen - for all those good bedtime stories.
- To the A-V lab - for all those R-rated slide tape presentations.
- To Parson's Hall - for heat in the winter, heat in the spring, heat in the summer.
- To the electricians - for not telling on our blown fuses.

All resulting in higher level functioning according to our evaluation tool!
